

FAQs for Participants and Families

What should participants bring?

For any program, we will provide a detailed list of recommended clothing and other items to bring, but it is always recommended to bring a refillable water bottle and wear clothing that you wouldn't mind possibly getting a little messy in the outdoors.

What about meals?

We don't have any food service facilities at Hale, so we aren't able to offer any food. Most groups have participants bring their own meals and snacks, but some organizations provide food or arrange for catering or delivery. We are happy to suggest some vendors who are familiar with finding their way at Hale.

I'm not big into the outdoors; is there something in this for me?

We work with people from all walks of life, many of whom do not spend a great deal of time outdoors. Even for people who don't love the outdoors, we find that Hale's unique outdoor environment provides a break from the usual routines and enables people to connect in ways they may not in their everyday spaces.

How do we get to Hale?

Your program's organizer will arrange the details for transportation to Hale. Most groups will provide buses or vans, though some smaller groups may use private vehicles.
